1: The $387,000 YouTube Video

YOUTUBE BUSINESS CASE BUILDER

a prompt

01 STEP
WHY THIS MATTERS

Before you create a single video, I want you to understand the potential ROI for your specific business. Not in theory. In real numbers. Copy this prompt into ChatGPT or Claude and fill in the brackets with your information.

02 STEP
THE PROMPT

I'm a [YOUR PROFESSION] in [YOUR CITY/MARKET].

My average transaction/client value is $[AMOUNT].

My current conversion rate from lead to client is approximately [X]%.

Help me calculate:

- If I create one video per week and each video generates an average of 2 leads per month after 6 months, what's my potential annual revenue from YouTube?

- What is my 'YouTube Hourly Rate' if each video takes 2 hours to create?

- Compare this ROI to my current marketing methods (cold calling, paid ads, networking events).

- What's the 3-year compound value if my videos continue generating leads indefinitely?

Be specific with numbers. Show your math.

03 STEP
HOW TO USE

- Copy the entire prompt above.
- Paste into ChatGPT, Claude, or Gemini.
- Replace the bracketed placeholders with your real info.
- Run it. Read the output. Iterate as needed.

04 STEP
AARON'S NOTE

This exercise gives you a concrete number you can return to whenever you're tempted to skip a week of content. When you know each video is worth $5,000 or $10,000 or $50,000 over its lifetime, carving out two hours a week stops feeling like a sacrifice and starts feeling like the smartest investment you'll make all month.

I'm a [YOUR PROFESSION] in [YOUR MARKET] planning my YouTube strategy. Here's what I'm currently doing or planning to do:

- Posting frequency: [X times per week]

- Primary goal metric: [subscribers/views/other]

- Content approach: [describe your topics]

- Over-investing in equipment before validating my content strategy
- Making videos too short to build authority

- Targeting broad/viral topics instead of searchable niche content
- Blaming the algorithm instead of optimizing titles, thumbnails, and hooks

Give me a revised strategy that avoids these traps.
